About Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms including: lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures.

The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by sitting farther from the television screen, using a smaller television screen, playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

Other Important Health and Safety Information

The Xbox Instruction Manual contains important safety and health information that you should read and understand before using this software.

Avoid Damage to Your Television

Do not use with certain televisions.

Some televisions, especially front- or rear-projection types, can be damaged if any video games, including Xbox games, are played on them. Static images presented during the normal course of game play may "burn in" to the screen, causing a permanent shadow of the static image to appear at all times, even when video games are not being played. Similar damage may occur from static images created when playing a video game on hold or pause. Consult your television owner's manual to determine if video games can be safely played on your set. If you are unable to find this information in the owner's manual, contact your television dealer or the manufacturer to determine if video games can be played safely on your set.

Unauthorized copying, reverse engineering, transmission, public performance, rental, pay for play, or circumvention of copy protection is strictly prohibited.

Thank you very much for purchasing Dead or Alive Xtreme Beach Volleyball for the Xbox video game system. Read this manual before playing to be sure you get the most out of your gaming experience.

Dead or Alive Xtreme Beach Volleyball supports Dolby Digital sound. To enjoy Dolby Digital sound, you must have a compatible audio device and an Xbox Advanced AV Pack (sold separately) or an Xbox High Definition AV Pack (also sold separately).

Dead or Alive Xtreme Beach Volleyball supports progressive video (480p).

To enjoy progressive video, you must have a compatible television and an Xbox High Definition AV Pack (sold separately).

Here's some precious advice from Mr. Zack for you guys.

Don't think! Feel!

Take it easy when you play volleyball.

Use the A button to return the ball to the opponents and the B button to keep the ball in your court.

That's all you've got to do!

Don't think! Feel!

Spike the ball when it comes closer!

Be cool and patient when the ball is tossed to you.

Wait and wait, then spike the ball when it comes closer.

If you do it perfectly, you will see the afterimage of the ball!

Spike the ball when it comes closer!

As fickle as a young girl's heart or an autumn sky

... This is a proverb well known in Kasumi's country.

In a word, like is like and dislike is dislike.

Use your head when you give a present to someone.

As fickle as a young girl's heart or an autumn sky

You wise guys know "Dead or Alive 3", don't you?

... The fighting tournament I won the championship easily.

My paradise has a certain relationship with that game.

A hint is "Survival Mode". Check it out!

Alright? Good luck!
